Odin On-Site

Security controls are your organization's first line of defense against disruptions that can often distract your firm from the business of business. Depending on the size of your operation, a well-developed program may utilize numerous tools such as armed guards, physical locks, intelligent locks, fencing, a CCTV system, proper lighting, and alarms. Site assessments of your organization's existing physical security structure are an excellent way to evaluate whether your systems are effective or if improvements are required.

Odin On-Site's primary assessment goal is to evaluate your facility's existing physical safety and security features, identify best practices currently in place, and identify any gaps related to safety, security, and emergency preparedness. Odin Enterprises evaluates an organization's existing physical security structures (its facilities, systems, and processes) and assesses how well the organization is protecting its most critical assets - its people and property, against likely threats. The on-site inspection is led by a member of the Odin Enterprises team with subject-matter expertise in security-related issues.

Benefits

Uncover potential gaps and inefficiencies associated with security systems or procedures

Obtain the intel needed to make insightful decisions on potential risks uncovered during the assessment

Receive recommendations from highly-skilled security experts for physical security improvements

Odin On-Site will thoroughly examine your facility, to include:

The campus and immediate area for security-related concerns

Internal and external physical security features and access points

Interviews with key personnel (e.g., Facilities, Security, Operations)

Relevant safety and security policy and procedures currently in place

One year of virtual support for security-related issues

Following the assessment, Odin On-Site provides a findings report detailing any deficiencies noted and offers cost effective strategies to mitigate those deficiencies.

Depending on the size of your facility, the on-site assessment typically takes approximately two-four (2-4) hours. per location to complete. During a portion of the assessment, we ask that an individual with extensive knowledge of the facility be available to provide a tour and answer any policy and procedure questions.
