Odin Sweeps

In today's highly technical age, it is imperative that your organization's electronics, conversations and communication devices are secure from eavesdropping by competitors, criminals, a potential insider threat, or nation state actors seeking to do harm to your business.

Odin Sweeps is our comprehensive physical and technical inspection of the working environment to detect and neutralize various forms of covert surveillance against our clients. The counter-surveillance approach Odin Sweeps uses detects cyber and physical 'eavesdropping' and highlights the importance of neutralizing both internal or external threats to your confidential and proprietary information.

Benefits

Information Security:

Keeps sensitive information secure from eavesdropping technology.

Breach Prevention:

Prevents competitors from illegally accessing classified private information.

Peace of mind:

Ensure that your employee's and work areas are secure and free from any bugging devices.

The Odin Sweeps program encompasses the following capabilities:

Technical Surveillance Countermeasures (TSCM)

Utilizing trained technical experts and specialized equipment, TSCM sweeps of critical areas are conducted to locate and neutralize for any implanted eavesdropping devices to ensure the security and integrity of company confidential communications and meetings.

Cyber Penetration Testing

This testing measures the effectiveness of security training, internal procedures, and technical controls by attempting to gain physical access to your systems. Attempts will be made to gain access to restricted areas, obtain a physical network connection, or access unattended workstations or servers.

Internal Signal Leakage

Utilizing proprietary equipment, external scans of on-campus facilities are conducted to determine levels of electronic leakage pertaining to systems, printers, wireless accessories, as well as susceptibility for capture and exploitation.
